University of Michigan Interprofessional Leadership Fellows Program

Call for Applications

The University of Michigan Interprofessional Leadership (IPL) Fellows program is designed to develop the leadership capacity of health sciences faculty members in the area of interprofessional education (IPE). IPL Fellows will learn from and work with academic and practice leaders across the university. This includes engagement in a monthly learning community, participation in a specialized training program, and the development and execution of an IPE project with a multidisciplinary team of fellows at U-M.

The fourth cohort of IPL Fellows from the Ann Arbor, Flint and Dearborn campuses will begin the 18-month program in January 2019.

BENEFITS TO THE FELLOW

- Participate in a fully-funded three-day interprofessional faculty development training program.
- Develop and implement an interprofessional education or practice project in collaboration with a multidisciplinary team of fellows.
- Access up to $5,000 per team of seed funding to support projects and scholarship.
- Build expertise as a change agent to advance interprofessional education and collaborative practice.
- Gain knowledge, skills and strategies for facilitating and coaching faculty or IPE teams.
- Leverage coaching and resources for educational project design and scholarship development.
- Get involved in a community of practice striving to advance IPE across the institution.
- Access a national network of peers and leaders.

EXPECTATIONS OF THE FELLOWS

- Attend and fully participate in the full three-day faculty development program titled "Educating Health Professionals in Interprofessional Care (EHPIC): Advancing the Future of Healthcare through Interprofessional Learning." This highly regarded training presented by the University of Toronto will be held locally on May 6-8, 2019 from 8am-5pm.
- Participate in a monthly IPL learning community hosted by CRLT January - April and September - December, 2019. Sessions are intended to prepare Fellows for the EHPIC program, offer structured discussions and training around IPE, and provide support for completing team projects and subsequent scholarship.
- Participate on a multidisciplinary team of fellows to develop and execute a project. This will require communication and meetings outside of the CRLT-hosted learning community dinners.
- Present project results at Health Professions Education Day (HPE Day) in 2019.
- Submit a final report of the project by August 31, 2020
